Tacoma General plans open house

Tacoma General Hospital will hold an open house Feb. 26 to mark the opening of its $27.2 million K Street Wing, which also provides the hospital with a new entrance. The addition is one of two large hospital projects expected to be completed in Tacoma this year. The other is a $15.8 million, six story building at St. Joseph Hospital that will be partially occupied by August. Story and additional photo, Page E-2.
